Vox Alta Returns to our Parish!

Vox Alta is a collaborative chamber ensemble of sopranos and altos, featuring « our own » Joan Bell, longtime parish musician and cantor. Those fortunate enough to have heard their first concert last Fall can attest to the beauty and audacity of their voices.

Come next Sunday at 2:00 pm! The proceeds of your tickets will benefit the nonprofit, Creative Growth.

Join us! We meet monthly at 4:00 pm in Norton Hall on the Friday after the second Wednesday of each month. Our next meetings are Friday, May 12th & Friday, June 16th.

This is a wonderful way to connect your Catholic faith to peace and justice initiatives and activities, while also participating in the deep sense of community that has developed amongst the members.

Come and learn about our current projects!

Please Remember St. Mary Magdalen In Your Will or Trust

Providing for the future of your parish, through your will, retirement plan, trust, or other format, is a generous way for you to express your gratitude for all the blessings that you and your family have received from our parish.

If you would like to discuss the different forms a legacy gift can take, please contact Fr. Nick at (510) 526-4811, or you may send him an email: pastor@marymagdalen.org.

New Book Corner in Norton Hall

The Parish office bookshelves are overflowing, so it is a good time to extend the library and have a book corner in Norton Hall. We now have a bookshelf in the left corner by the couches to house many interesting books. The mini-library has a wide variety of books in the areas of spiritual growth, grief support, social justice, racial equity, caring for the environment, and even some books for the children to look at during coffee hour after Mass. All the books may be taken home and returned when it is convenient.

Mother's Day

As children, we relied on our mothers for support, nourishment, protection and encouragement. As adolescents, we took them for granted, abused their kindness, and ignored their counsel. In our adulthood, mothers often become our friends and confidantes. During old age, many mothers begin to rely on their children. This weekend, we give thanks for our mothers. They brought us into the world and nurtured us to maturity, and so its appropriate we show our appreciation on this day.

While most of this can be said of fathers, there is a unique bond between mother and child that lasts a lifetime. Understanding this bond gives us a glimpse of our relationship with God. This is the feminine side of God. Like our mothers, God receives whatever we dish out. No matter what we do, God has an inexhaustible supply of grace for us. While mothers are finite, and there is a limit to their strength, they share this receiving characteristic with God.

Occasionally I have heard the objection that we shouldn't set aside one day for our mothers so we can take them for granted during the rest of the year.

I think this is a serious argument. However, I would counter that honoring some one on a specific day serves as a reminder for us to recognize their specialness throughout the year.

Next month I will make my way back to North Florida for my mother's 95th birthday on June 15th. There is no denying that she will not be with our family for much longer. I cherish the fact she has remained with us for nearly a century, while I dread her loss, which will inevitably come. But for the moment, I can still revel in her comfort and be her "little boy." Thus, this Mothers' Day and those that are possibly in the future have a special poignancy for me.

Today, on this Mothers' Day, let us reflect on how our mothers accept us unconditionally and thank them for their love.

Fr. Ioane I; Returning to Samoa!

Fr. Ioane Patita Ono has been with us for nearly as long as our pastor: he arrived in our parish on August 1, 2017, to study for his doctorate at the GTU. His studies are done, and Fr. Ioane will be leaving our parish this Saturday. He will have a short stay with his family in Modesto before flying back to Samoa. We thank Fr. Ioane for his staunch support as we transitioned from a Dominican to a diocesan parish, especially for his leadership of the 5:30 pm Mass and Eucharistic Adoration, and above all, his delighted Blessing of our Animals!
